THE GRADUATE INSTITUTE, GENEVA

The Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies is an institution of research and higher education dedicated to the study of world affairs, with a particular emphasis on the cross-cutting fields of international relations and development issues.

Through our core activities, we aim to promote international cooperation and make a contribution to the progress of developing societies. More broadly, we endeavour to develop creative thinking on the major challenges of our time, foster global responsibility and advance respect for diversity.

GENEVA

In the heart of International Affairs

With almost half its population hailing from abroad, living in Geneva means experiencing international diversity and crossing cultures daily. And even as it bubbles with cultural and economic activity – home to the headquarters of multinationals, major banks and international trade – Geneva remains easy to navigate, with a dense public transportation network covering a small territory. Beautiful, comfortable and cosmopolitan, it is one of the world's smallest big cities.
